

TWENTY-NINE RIOTERS ARRESTED AND ARRAIGNED IN SPRINGFIELD

Wild Scenes of Disorder Again Prevailed Wednesday Night

Col. Ammel and Four Columbus Companies Hurried to the Scene

And the Militia Now Seem to Control the Situation

TWO NEGROES LEFT DAYTON

UNDER GUARD OF THREE COMPANIES OF TROOPS AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK THURSDAY MORNING

One of the Rioters Pleaded Guilty to Carrying Concealed Weapons and Was Fined $200 and Given 30 Days.

Dayton, March 1.—Guarded by companies G, H and K, Ladd and Dean, the Springfield negroes, left for Springfield at 11 o'clock this morning. They were hoisted in the street, but no attempt was made to interfere with the militia.

ARRIVAL AT SPRINGFIELD.

Springfield, March 1.—Under a guard of Dayton soldiers, Dean and Ladd arrived at noon. They were taken to the hospital for identification by Davis, who is dying. Four companies of militia besides five Gatling guns met the car on its arrival.

Springfield, March 1.—The court room was filled with citizens and soldiers when the rioters were arraigned this morning. All pleaded not guilty and with the exception of one man, who had an attorney the others were told to sit down and get ready for trial. None of the prisoners are more than 21 years of age.

Roscoe Ridgeway pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons and was fined $200 and given 30 days in the work house.

Springfield, O., March 1.—Not one but many mobs roamed the streets of Springfield last night, and a reign of terror was prevented only by the promptness of the troops in dispersing the rioters. While the actual damage done was not as great as the previous night there was no diminution of the feeling against the negroes.

The net result of the second night of riot is: Seven houses in the negro sections of the city burned, several sections of others fired and saved by the firemen or troops and many houses stoned and partially wrecked.

A number of persons were seriously hurt. Rev. John Scurry, an aged negro minister is seriously ill as the result of the shock produced by an attack on his house.

A boy was shot in the leg, a number of colored persons badly beaten and John Pierpont was shot by a negro while the mob was attacking a house.

Word from the hospital at 8:30 this morning was that Martin Davis, the shooting of whom caused the rioting, would not live. It is feared his death would rouse the mobs to such a pitch of fury that even the troops would find it hard to cope with it. Last night the authorities took Davis' dying statement.

It is believed this morning that the backbone of the mob has been broken. The effectiveness with which the companies of the National Guard were shifted from one part of the city to another, keeping the mobs in control, has discouraged the leaders of the rioters.

One of the striking results of the outbreak is a movement by citizens started last night, which is expected to lead to a strong public demand for the civic regeneration of Springfield. The citizens intend to punish the rioters so effectively and severely that none will ever again attempt such an outbreak here.

The most dramatic scene of the night was the capture of 16 ringleaders of the mob by a squad of police under Sergeant Wm. Johnson. The militia also rounded up a large crowd of rioters. It is believed the capture of these will do much to prevent any further show of violence.

The spirit of the troops was shown last night when Col. Ammel arrived with four Columbus companies in response to the appeal yesterday afternoon of the local authorities.

"There are no blank cartridges among my troops. There will be no firing with blanks and there will be no firing over the heads of the mob. If the necessity comes my men will shoot low and they will shoot to kill."

The fury of the mob was directed against negroes.

The first alarm of fire last night came from Taylor and Pleasant streets, where there are a number of colored people and several disreputable places. A small mob of determined men had set fire to a house occupied by George Miller. Miller and his wife and man named Bivens were in the house at the time. As soon as the house was attacked they escaped. Miller going to the mayor's office.

The house was soon in flames and consumed. Another house adjoining this also caught fire. The fire department responded quickly and found great difficulty in reaching the spot. A large crowd gathered and lent its energy toward interfering with the department's approach.

A company of militia was dispatched to the place, but before it arrived the mob had cut the hose in two places. The soldiers drove the mob back and stood guard.

This incident was scarcely over when attention was directed to another locality about three blocks away on York street, where there was also an effort to burn out a small negro district. One house was burned to the ground. A detachment of troops was hurried to the spot and the trouble was soon stopped.

About the same time a report came from Section street, near the center of the city, that there was trouble there. A mob had formed and had started to wreck the house of John Funderburg. Half a dozen shots were fired into the house, but a detachment of soldiers arrived in time to prevent further trouble. The street lamps were shot to pieces. An attempt was made to get to "Flicker's Nest," a notorious colored resort on East street, but the militia had anticipated this and were on hand to keep back the mob.

A half hour later an alarm came in from Fair and Mechanic streets in the extreme southern part of the city, where also there is a settlement of negroes.

The city was filled with the wildest rumors. At one time it was reported the city hall had been attacked and stoned. The mob was composed of the worst element in the city. Police Prosecutor John M. Cole says some of the sixty ringleaders of the mob identified by the police were police characters, while of the fifty or more persons burned out in the "Jungles," not one had been known to be in police court in recent years. Many pathetic cases are coming to the attention of the police, and a dozen or more of the innocent negroes, in offensive and never in trouble in their lives, have lost all their little possessions.

By midnight the town was quiet, with only here and there a few stragglers.

In the attempt of the police to arrest the ringleaders the toughest fired at the police over their shoulders as they ran. The police fired back and finally cornered a crowd. Sixteen were rounded up and taken to the council chamber where they were herded with nine other toughs who had been caught by the militia.

They were all taken to the county jail where they will be held on charges of rioting, carrying concealed weapons and disreputable conduct. Among them was a Wittenberg college student, David Johnson a native of Hawaii. Most of the crowd arrested by the police were known to them as chronic offenders and common criminals.

The action of the mayor, assisted by a citizens' committee in warning all persons off the streets was effective.

The citizens' committee is merely temporary. More permanent plans will be devised by a mass meeting in a day or two in which a committee of public safety shall be appointed and a widespread movement undertaken to reform the city.

The police court is the objective point of attack, and already there are intimations that the resignation of Police Judge Miller will be demanded. The police court has had an effective prosecutor, but the judge has been lax, it is claimed.

Springfield, March 1.—Twenty-eight men arrested for participation in the riots were arraigned in police court this morning before Judge Miller. Fourteen were charged with participating in a riot, nine with disorderly conduct and five with carrying concealed weapons. Continuances were asked for in each case. Some are members of prominent Springfield families. Lt. Dale, Fourth regiment O. N. G., is the chief witness for the prosecution as his company made most of the arrests.

Major Geo. S. Marshall, O. N. G., city solicitor of Columbus, advised the city prosecutor of Springfield in the action.

Mayor Todd at 9 a. m. issued the following statement:

"I do not believe we will have any more trouble and I feel that the worst is over. The saloons will be kept closed until the danger is over. The militia will be kept on duty throughout the day and tonight.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL

Says He Cannot Get Any Information as People Are Protecting the Incendiaries.

Springfield, March 1.—Hy. Davis, state fire marshal who is here with four assistants, says after four years in the fire marshal office he has never before encountered conditions as they exist in Springfield.

"Men in this city," he said, "take delight in arson. It appears to me that the people of Springfield are satisfied. Even men in high conditions of life coolly excuse the offenders and say it must be done."

Davis says he cannot get information of any kind because the people are protecting the incendiaries.

MACHINE GUNS

Carried by One of the Four Companies Sent to Springfield.

Columbus, O., March 1.—In response to a call made by Mayor Todd of Springfield, and Dean Almonsey of Clark county, Wednesday afternoon, four companies of the Fourth regiment were dispatched to the scene of the riot in Springfield, by special train over the B. & O. The order of Adjutant General Hughes is as follows:

The commanding officer, Fourth Infantry O. N. G., all assemble Companies A, B, C and D of his command and proceed at once to Springfield, Ohio, reporting to the mayor of said city and assist in restoring civil authority and protecting life and property. He will take command of all troops at that station. He will notify this office of the time of departure. (Continued on Page 6, 2nd Col.)

OVER COFFIN OF HIS SISTER

Bettman Killed His Brother-in-Law and Then Himself

WOMAN'S TALK CAUSED CRIME

MURDERER BLAMED HIS VICTIM FOR THE WOMAN'S DEATH

And Shot Him Twice, After Which He Turned the Weapon on Himself.

New York, March 1.—Thomas Bettman, aged 16 years, shot and killed Fritz Fennan, his brother-in-law, and then ended his own life in the home of the former, No. 156 West Ninth street, South Brooklyn, Wednesday. The double tragedy occurred in the room in which the coffin remains of Bettman's sister were resting.

The gossip of a woman is said to be the moving cause of the crime.

Three months ago Sophia Bettman, sister of the murderer, was married to Fritz Fennan, a bartender.

Two days ago Mrs. Fennan died from peritonitis, which was due to accident. The arrangements for the funeral were made and it was arranged that the services should be held in St. Bernard's Catholic church Wednesday morning. Last night Fennan's rooms were filled with relatives and friends, and Bettman accidentally overheard a woman make a remark that reflected on his dead sister's honor as a woman. He made inquiry and learned what the gossip meant. Then he went into an adjoining room and wept most of the night. He was very fond of his dead sister, who was his housekeeper at the time of her marriage, which was disastrous to him.

Yesterday morning he returned to the house, and after weeping bitterly to the coffin for several minutes, suddenly turned toward Fennan and said:

"You dog, you are to blame for her death," and drawing a revolver fired three shots at Fennan, two of which took effect.

Bettman then put a bullet into his own head and one into his heart, dropping dead.

Fennan died in a few minutes.

RAILROADS DEFY KANSAS LAW

Representatives of All the Lines met in Kansas City and Fixed Freight Rates.

Kansas City, Mo., March 1.—Representatives of all the railroads of Kansas met here and fixed a new schedule of freight rates in defiance of the maximum freight rate law passed by the last Kansas legislature. The schedule agreed upon amounts to an increase of 10 per cent of the present schedule, which has been in effect since the passage of the maximum freight rate law. The new rate will be about the same as the one in effect before the maximum rate law was passed. It is said that the action of the Kansas railway traffic officials will effect the independent oil shippers of Kansas more disastrously than any of the other patrons of Kansas roads. The Standard Oil company having a monopoly on oil tanks, it is said, will not suffer from the new schedule.

DOZEN INJURED.

Passenger Train Goes Over an Embankment into a River.

Charleston, W. Va., March 1.—The east-bound passenger train on the Coal & Coke railroad was derailed one mile east of Elkhurst. The train was running backward after making a transfer, when the engine and combination car plunged down a high embankment into the Elk river. Those fatally injured are: Lewis Millam, mail clerk; George Elswick, engineer; Ray McConhly, conductor. The following passengers were among injured: H. M. Davis, W. W. Wood, J. W. Wiley, E. H. Hifton, F. B. Riley, W. H. Fisher of Charleston and F. H. Parsons, salesman for Swift & Co.

AGED ELEVEN

And She is a Mother, With the Distinction of Being the Youngest in the Country.

Pittsburg, March 1.—Pearl Weeks, aged 11 years and two months, of this city, gave birth to a girl baby here Wednesday, thus gaining the distinction of being the youngest mother in the west, perhaps in the world.

I. E. Sanderson, the officiating physician, says that he knows of no younger mother.

The baby is fully developed and is as bright and intelligent appearing as any youngster of her age. The mother is in a serious condition from her experience so early in motherhood, but there are chances for her life.

The Pittsburg medical fraternity nearly all saw the young mother on Wednesday and marveled at the phenomenal birth with the mother so young.

WANT HUGHES

To Act as Counsel for Interstate Commerce Commission in a Far Reaching Investigation.

Washington, March 1.—The interstate commerce commission is hunting for special counsel to assist in conducting the railroad investigation. Charles E. Hughes of New York, is the man the commission would like to have. Should he decline a man of national reputation will be chosen and Congress will be asked to pay the bill. Counsel will be chosen within a week. He will be the chief inquisitor in the investigation which will be the most important and far reaching the government has ever attempted. It is the desire of the commission to secure a man who will perform for the commission the kind of work Hughes did for the Armstrong insurance committee of New York.

George Klingens, grand scribe of the Grand Chapter Royal Arch Masons of Michigan, died at his home at Cassopolis, Mich., of consumption.

M'CURDY SAILS FOR EUROPE

In Spite of Warning of Justice Peckham

FORMER MUTUAL PRESIDENT

HAS HIRED THE IMPERIAL SUITE FOR HIS OCEAN TRIP

Reports of the Equitable Shows a Decrease of $30,000,000 in 1905—Depew's Successor Elected

New York, March 1.—The effect on the insurance business of the sensational exposures of the past year are well illustrated by the report issued by the Equitable Life Assurance Society Wednesday. The report shows that on December 31 last the Equitable Life Assurance Society had over $20,000,000 less outstanding assurance than on December 31, 1904. During the year 1905 the company obtained over $81,000,000 less new assurance ("less assurance not taken") than in 1904. In surrender values the company disbursed in 1904, $2,531,205; in 1905, $10,662,975.

In connection with the several examinations of the society in 1905 the company disbursed $502,152. Total expenses were $1,000,000 less than in 1904.

The directors of the Equitable held their annual meeting yesterday and elected John M. Beach, president of the Teft-Weller Dry Goods company, a successor to Chauncey Depew, but decided to postpone the election of officers until after a decision as to the proposed changes in the by-laws and received the final report of the expert accountants appointed several months ago to investigate the books of the society.

While the trustees of the Mutual Life are in special session today to discuss the Armstrong committee report, Richard A. McCurdy, with son-in-law Theobald, will be on the ocean bound for Europe.

The warning of Justice Rufus W. Peckham that former President McCurdy ought not to be allowed to leave the country has apparently had no effect, and he sails on the Hamburg-American Line steamship Amerika.

Justice Peckham, speaking of the plundering of the Mutual, declared McCurdy was "the chief delinquent," and that it would be an inexcusable mistake for the Mutual Life to allow him to leave this country without the commencement of an action against him to recover the money he may owe it.

Mr. McCurdy has engaged the "Imperial suite" for his trip, and has also arranged for a special dining table during the voyage. The imperial suite is the most expensive on board, and belongs to the German Emperor should he wish to make a trip in the America.

In its appointments it excels even the famous room in the St. Regis Hotel, with the $10,000 bed. The decorations and appointments cost $25,000.

Mr. McCurdy has so far recovered his health that no physician will accompany him.

The trustees of the Mutual Life company held a special meeting today, and it is reported, several who disapproved the attitude of President Peckham and the Truesdale investigating committee will resign.

President Morton of the Equitable, denied the report that Gage E. Turnbull was to be forced to resign his office as second vice president of the company.

London, March 1.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Shanghai reports that an American gunboat (the Quilros probably) has arrived at Nanchang. On the same authority it is said that the Rev. H. C. Kingham's eldest daughter has died from the effects of the injuries inflicted upon her by the Chinese mob that killed her parents.

At New York, Thomas Bettman shot and killed his brother-in-law, Thomas Fennan, during a quarrel over the death of Fennan's young wife, Bettman's sister.

Kilo Mine, owned by the Springfield Coal Mining company, and located near Springfield, Ill., was damaged $75,000 by fire, which destroyed the upper works and machinery.

Frank Tompkins, a wealthy farmer, was shot and killed as he sat beside his wife in his parlor at Franklin, Mo., the murderer firing through the window.

(Special to the Advocate.)

Coshocton, O., March 1.—Court convened here this morning in the Ben Dickerson trial and an adjournment followed soon afterward because the men whose names were in the special venire of 25 names could not get into the city in time to be present at the convening of court. Judge Eason therefore ordered an adjournment until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Work was commenced at once upon the opening of the afternoon session of completing the jury. As fast as the men are secured they are sworn and placed in a room over the fore place. It is expected that the panel will have been completed by 3 o'clock this afternoon. The jury will be taken to the scene of the crime in the south western part of the county Friday and an adjournment until Monday will follow their return. On Monday, the first trial will be for the life of Ben Dickerson with complicity.

THE BANKING BILL IN LEGISLATURE

PROVISIONS OF MEASURE UNDER CONSIDERATION BY SOLONS AT COLUMBUS

Of Interest to Depositors—Its Purpose Is to Improve Banking Laws of Ohio.

A bill relating to the organization of banks, and to provide for the inspection of banks, is now under consideration by the general assembly. It was introduced by Hon. Warren Thomas of Trumbull. (H. B. 250.)

This measure is of vital importance to the business interests of the state and of special interest to that large majority of the people who are bank depositors. Following is:

A Synopsis of the Bill.

This bill provides for the organization, regulation and inspection of all banking companies that may be hereafter incorporated, and for the inspection of all banks incorporated under state laws now doing business, but it preserves to all such banks, without impairment, all the rights, privileges and powers heretofore conferred upon them. It also provides that all existing corporations may re-incorporate under this act, if they so elect, and thereby have conferred upon them all the privileges and powers conferred by the act. In doing so the corporation can enlarge or diminish the purposes for which it is incorporated so as to combine one or more of the classes of business authorized by the act, without affecting the legality, or being required to change any investments or transactions previously made.

Classes of Banks Authorized.

The act authorizes the incorporation of commercial banks, savings banks, safe deposit companies, trust companies, and corporations combining any two or more, or all of these classes.

Amount of Capital Required.

The minimum amount of capital required, which is to be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, is as follows:

For commercial banks.....	$ 25,000
For savings banks.....	25,000
For a commercial and savings bank.....	25,000
For a safe deposit company.....	25,000
For a commercial bank and a safe deposit company.....	25,000
For a commercial bank, a savings bank and a safe deposit company.....	50,000
For a trust company.....	100,000
For a trust company and a safe deposit company.....	100,000
For a savings bank and a trust company.....	100,000
For a savings bank, safe deposit company and a trust company.....	125,000
For a commercial bank, savings bank, safe deposit company and a trust company.....	125,000

How Capital Must Be Paid In.

The entire authorized capital must be subscribed and at least 50 per cent must be paid in before a banking corporation can commence business. The remainder of the subscribed capital must be paid in in monthly installments of at least 10 per cent, payable at the end of each succeeding month. The stock of stockholders who fail to pay their installments when due must be sold. If it cannot be sold, it must be cancelled. Whenever the capital stock of any bank is reduced below the minimum required by law, from any cause, it must be raised to the minimum within sixty days. If this is not done, the superintendent of banks may apply for a receiver.

The capital of a bank may be increased or decreased by proper action of the stockholders, but it must not be reduced below the required minimum in any case.

No bank shall advertise in any manner a larger capital than is actually paid in. A severe penalty is provided for violation of this provision.

Board of Directors.

Boards of directors may consist of not less than five nor more than thirty persons. Each director must own at least five shares of stock in his own name, unencumbered and pledged in any way, and must take an oath of office.

The board of directors has full control of the government of the corporation. It must meet at least once a month, and shall appoint an executive committee.

Bank Officers.

Bank officers are to be elected by the board of directors. They must furnish bond for the faithful discharge of their duties. Severe penalties are prescribed for malfeasance in office, including embezzlement, misapplication of any part or all of the funds or property of the bank, making false entries, defrauding, etc.

Executive Committee.

The executive committee must consist of not less than three stockholders or directors. It must meet not less than once a month. It must pass on all loans and investments, and in doing so, must be governed by instructions given by the board of directors. It must keep minutes of its meetings and report to the board of directors.

Examinations by Stockholders.

The board of directors must appoint annually a committee of at least two stockholders or directors to thoroughly examine, or to superintend the examination of all the assets and liabilities of the corporation, and to report to the board of directors the result of said examination.

Surplus and Dividends.

Before paying any dividend, the board of directors must carry to surplus one-tenth of the net profits of the period covered by the dividend, until such surplus is equal to twenty per cent of the authorized capital. Provision must be made for the payment of all expenses, losses, interest charges, taxes, etc., after which the amount of the dividend may be determined at the discretion of the board of directors.

Joint Deposit Accounts.

Joint deposit accounts may be opened by two or more persons subject to check by any one party to the agreement, which shall continue for the use of a survivor after the death of one or more of the parties to the agreement.

Certification of Checks.

All certified checks must be charged to the account of the person drawing the check when they are certified. A check must not be certified for a larger amount than is actually on deposit in the bank to the credit of the person drawing the check. Severe penalties are prescribed for the violation of these provisions.

Limitations On Loans.

No person, firm or corporation shall be allowed to become indebted to a bank for any amount in excess of 20 per cent of its paid-in capital and surplus, and all such indebtedness in excess of 20 per cent of the capital and surplus must be adequately secured by deposits of collateral. Discounts of bills of exchange drawn against existing values, and discounted commercial or business paper actually owned by a person, firm or corporation negotiating the same, are not to be considered as a part of their indebtedness in determining the limit of their credit.

For commercial banks, loans secured by real estate shall not exceed 50 per cent of their capital, surplus and deposits. For savings banks, or for commercial and savings banks combined, loans so secured shall not exceed 60 per cent of their capital, surplus and deposits. Real estate shall not be accepted as security for loans in excess of 40 per cent of the value of unimproved property, or 60 per cent of the value of improved property, and all improved property pledged as security for a loan must be kept adequately insured.

Bank Reserves.

All banks must keep a reserve equal in amount to 15 per cent of their total deposits, of which an amount equal to 5 per cent of their demand deposits and 2 1/2 per cent of their time deposits must be held in cash. The balance of the reserve may be held on deposit in other banks and trust companies, subject to check on demand.

Investments in Securities.

(1) Commercial banks may invest their capital and deposits in or loan the same upon:

(a) personal or collateral securities;

(b) Bonds or other interest bearing obligations of the United States, or in those for which the faith of the United States is pledged to provide for the payment of the interest and principal, including the bonds of the District of Columbia; also in bonds or other interest bearing obligations of any foreign government;

(c) Stocks and bonds, or interest bearing obligations of this or any other state of the United States;

(d) Bonds, or interest bearing obligations of any city, village, hamlet, county, township or other body politic, and bonds or interest bearing obligations issued in behalf of the public schools, and the means of instruction connected therewith, of this or any other state of the United States for the payment of which the faith and credit of such city, village, hamlet, county, township, school district or other body issuing them is pledged;

(e) Mortgage bonds or collateral trust bonds of any regularly incorporated company; but the superintendent of banks may order any such securities sold within six months which he may deem undesirable.

(2) Savings banks may invest their capital and deposits in or loan the same upon the securities authorized for commercial banks, with the exception that, in the case of savings banks, the promissory notes of individuals and firms must be secured by a sufficient pledge of collateral approved by the executive committee or board of directors. Collateral security is not required for the promissory notes of corporations.

(3) Trust companies may invest their capital and deposits (excepting deposits for the investment of which some other mode of investment is prescribed by the terms of the trust agreement), in or loan the same upon the securities authorized for commercial and savings banks, with the exception that stocks of corporations that have not paid dividends for five consecutive years shall not be accepted, and all promissory notes must be secured by collateral in addition they may make investments in ground rents.

No commercial bank, savings bank, safe deposit company or trust company shall loan money on the security or pledge of the shares of its own capital stock, nor shall such companies purchase shares of their own capital stock unless such purchase shall be necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith.

In defining the powers of banks, which is one of the important features of the bill, it sets out just what banks may do under the law, as follows:

Powers of Banks.

(1) Commercial banks may receive deposits on which interest may be allowed. All deposits in such banks shall be payable on demand without notice, except when the contract of deposit otherwise provides. They may also loan money on personal security, discount and negotiate promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, and other evidences of debt and buy and sell exchange, coin and bullion.

(2) Savings banks may receive deposits in any sum offered by any person, firm, society or corporation, or by any body politic, or that may be ordered to be deposited by any court having custody of money. They may also receive deposits from and pay the same to minors. They may pay such rates of interest on deposits as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the rate allowed by law. A pass book shall be issued to each depositor, containing the rules and regulations adopted by the board of directors governing his deposit, and in which shall be entered each deposit, the interest allowed thereon and each payment made to the depositor. No payment or check against any savings bank account shall be made or paid unless accompanied by and entered in the depositor's pass book. Savings banks may also issue time certificates of deposit.

(3) Safe deposit companies may receive on deposit, for safe keeping, property of any kind, and collect and disburse the interest or income upon any such property and the principal of the same when it becomes due. They may also act as agent for the purpose of registering, countersigning or transferring certificates of stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness.

(4) Trust companies may:

(a) Act as agent or trustee for the purpose of registering, countersigning or transferring certificates of stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness;

(b) Act as trustee under any mortgage or deed of trust;

(c) Receive and hold moneys or property in trust, or on deposit, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the parties;

(d) Act as trustee under any will, deed or other instrument creating a trust for the care and management of property, subject to control by the court having jurisdiction of the same.

(e) Accept and execute trusts of every description as may be committed to them by any person, firm, or corporation or by order of any court, and perform all acts necessary to a proper administration of such trusts.

Real Estate Ownership and Transactions.

A bank may lease a suitable building in which to transact its business, or it may purchase real estate whereon is erected, or it may erect such a building from the portions of which, not required for its use, a revenue may be derived, but the cost of such real estate and buildings shall not exceed 50 per cent of its paid-in capital and surplus. A bank may also hold such real estate as may be mortgaged or conveyed to it in good faith by way of security for loans made by or for money due to it. A bank may purchase real estate upon foreclosure of mortgages owned by it, or on judgments or decrees obtained or rendered for debts due to it, or in settlements effected to secure such debts, but all such property shall be sold by the bank within five years after it has acquired title to the same, unless upon application of the board of directors, the superintendent of banks shall extend the time within which the sale shall be made.

Liability of Trust Companies.

The capital of a trust company, with all its property and effects, shall be absolutely liable in case of any default whatever in any trust, but a court may at any time require additional security in any amount for any trust committed by it.

No trust company shall accept a trust until its capital stock shall be not less than one hundred thousand dollars, fully paid in, and until it shall have deposited securities with the treasurer of state, fifty thousand dollars provided its capital is two hundred thousand dollars or less, and one hundred thousand dollars when its capital is more than two hundred thousand dollars.

No trust company shall ever make a loan, directly or indirectly, to any of its directors, officers or employees. They must hold all trust property separate and apart from all other funds and they may be examined by any judge of a court under which they are acting in a trust capacity, or by any party interested in any trust under their control, touching their management of the same.

Consolidation and Liquidation.

Banks may consolidate, under certain requirements and conditions, but in no event can such consolidation be made to defeat or defraud any creditor.

Provisions governing the liquidation of banks are similar in character to provisions for the liquidation of business corporations in the general corporation law.

Inspection of Banks.

This bill provides for a Department of Banks, as an independent department of state, to be under the supervision of a superintendent of banks, to be appointed by the governor by and with the consent of the senate; a deputy superintendent, and examiners as may be necessary to carefully examine each state bank at least once a year, and oftener whenever adequate protection for depositors may demand.

Neither the superintendent, the deputy superintendent nor any assistant or examiner can be interested in any bank. They must take an oath and give bond not to make any unlawful disclosures of facts or information obtained through their examinations. Any person guilty of a violation of this provision shall, upon conviction, be fined not more than five hundred dollars and sentenced to the penitentiary for from one to five years.

All banks must make at least four reports each year to the superintendent of banks, which shall be published.

The Department of Banks, being for the protection of depositors, a large number of whom are taxpayers, is to be provided for out of the general state revenue funds. When the superintendent of banks finds that a bank refuses, or is unable to pay depositors according to contract or law, or is otherwise insolvent, or that its capital is impaired, and the same is not rectified within sixty days, he can, with the approval of the attorney general, apply for the appointment of a receiver, practically in the same manner as provided in the general corporation law. No one employed in this department, in any capacity whatever, can be appointed as a receiver for any insolvent bank.

Repealing Clause.

The repealing clause eliminates all obsolete banking laws relating to free banking and the old State Bank of Ohio, and all other sections of the banking laws that are inoperative or will be rendered unnecessary by the enactment of this bill into law.

DEPOSITORY LAW

It Is Proposed that the Act Be Made Mandatory Instead of Optional With Treasurers.

Columbus, Mar. 1.—A depository law that will be compulsory upon every treasurer in the 88 counties of Ohio is the first fruit that will be borne of the investigation of Cincinnati and Hamilton county now being made by the committee of the senate. In the light of the disclosures which were brought out in Cincinnati last Friday and Saturday by this so-called Lexow committee, opposition to such bill is almost certain to disappear.

Representative Bronson has introduced a depository bill, which was drafted by the Ohio state board of commerce, and which meets with general favor.

Senator Schmidt of Cuyahoga, one of the members of the committee, has commenced work upon a depository bill and expects to have it ready for introduction some time next week. It is planned after the special act under which county funds are now deposited with banks in Cuyahoga county. There the banks are paying 3.33 per cent for the use of county funds, yielding to the county about $30,000 a year. Similar special laws are in force in Lucas, Stark and Seneca counties. There is a general law on the statute books authorizing county commissioners to advertise and receive bids from banks for the use of county money, and in a few counties of the state advantage is taken of it. Hamilton county has never had any special law on the subject and its commissioners have never elected or put the general law into operation. The trouble with this general law is that it is optional.

The admissions made by Treasurer Rudolph K. Hynicka and a number of bankers of Cincinnati as to the methods which have been followed there for the past fifteen years have brought the question of a depository law into the front and made it one of the most important in this legislature. The claim is made that investigation would show similar conditions in nearly every county of the state, though on not such a gigantic scale, perhaps.

Treasurer Hynicka freely admitted that during his first year in office he was paid over $20,000 by the banks of Cincinnati for the use of county funds; every bank in Cincinnati, with two exceptions, got the use of some of these funds. They paid to Hynicka 2 1/2 per cent, while to the city, whose funds were deposited with them under the general municipal depository law, they paid only 2 per cent. County treasurers are not compelled to accept checks in payment of taxes, but they all do as a matter of accommodation to the public. In some counties these checks are sorted out each day and messengers sent to the banks on which they are drawn, cashed and the money at once carried back to the vaults of the county. Hynicka's method was to deposit these checks with the various banks for collection, in amounts ranging from $50,000 to $300,000, and then leave the money with the banks until there was occasion to pay it out, either to the city, the state or for some other purpose.

The result was that many banks had almost continual use of from $100,000 to $300,000, and for this they paid the treasurer 2 1/2 per cent. Hynicka said, and in this he was corroborated by bankers and George Schott, who has been cashier in the office of the county treasurer for the last fifteen years, that it had been the custom for the treasurer to receive this gratuity during all that period. Tax collections in Hamilton county have averaged $7,000,000 for the last several years. At 2 1/2 per cent the annual yield would be $2,625,000. Of course, these funds were not in the possession of the banks all the time, but at the least calculation the last three treasurers of Hamilton county divided among themselves over half a million dollars in "gratuities" from the banks. The legitimate fees which these treasurers collected in addition to this amounted to from $25,000 to $40,000 a year.

INCREASE

In Postoffice Appropriation to Meet Increase in Business.

Washington, March 1.—The subcommittee of the house committee on post-offices and post roads completed a bill fixing the appropriation for the department at about $192,000,000, or $10,000,000 more than the last appropriation. This increase is designed to meet the increase in the business of the department, which averages about 8 per cent annually. The bill provides for some sweeping changes in the department's methods, and contains a provision to prevent the shipment of anything but actual mail matter through the mails by the government. This is aimed at the government departments which have made free use of the mails in shipping furniture, etc. The appropriation in the bill for the rural free delivery is about $28,000,000, an increase of $2,000,000 over that of last year.

Indian Land Grant.

Washington, March 1.—For three hours Mr. Foraker held the attention of the senate while he read a carefully-prepared speech on the railroad rate question. His speech was a protest against any general legislation, on the theory that the existing Elkins law could be so extended as to make it answer all the requirements. He did not fail, however, to point out what he considered the defects of the Hepburn-Doolittle bill and made the declaration more than once that it would fail to remedy the evils complained of. Mr. Foraker's speech was followed by a further discussion of the railway land grab in the Indian territory, with the result that Mr. Aldrich's resolution extending the tribal government of the Indians was adopted after it was so modified as to carry that government over until March 4, 1907.

ARRESTS MADE

In Connection With the Trial of Former Bank President.

Albion, N. Y., March 1.—Two arrests were made in connection with the trial of Eugene A. Geogier, former president of the wrecked German bank of Buffalo, who is under indictment on a charge of grand larceny. The names of the prisoners are unknown, but it is believed that the arrests were made in connection with jury tampering. The police assert that certain men had been going through the country before the trial began offering large sums of money to induce men to get on the Geogier jury.

Says He Was Held in Slavery.

Evansville, Ind., March 1.—Alleging that he had been held in slavery for four years and forced to work for nothing, Victor Manolopoulos, 17, a Greek bootblack, has brought suit against his employers, three brothers named Botes, for $1,000 damages. The boy, after working four years, demanded a small sum of money as part payment and was assaulted by one of the employers, he says. A lawyer in the city interested himself in the case and found twelve small Greek boys employed under contract for $15 a month, but none of them had ever received his full salary, and all were 2 year or two years in arrears.

Reforms in the Congo.

Boston, Mass., March 1.—The executive committee of the Congo Reform association of America met here to discuss the recent protest and appeal of the fifty-two missionaries of the various boards against the acts said to have been committed in the Congo region in violation of the general act of the conference of Berlin. A recent letter from Secretary of State Root was discussed, the general agreement of the committee being that the secretary had touched upon only one side of the issue and that it had now become advisable to present the facts on the other side to the people of the country.

Major Gillette Accepts.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—Having been unable to obtain an indefinite leave of absence, Major Cassius E. Gillette, one of the best-known engineers in the United States army, resigned his commission and Mayor Weaver immediately appointed and swore him in as chief engineer of the bureau of filtration of the city of Philadelphia. The position pays $17,000 a year. The major's resignation came as a great surprise.

Children Fatally Burned.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 1.—Beatrice Osborne, 5, was burned to death, and Lizzie Osborne, 7, was fatally burned by the explosion of a can of gasoline with which they were playing at Burnett, Ind., eight miles from here. The father is a coal miner. He was at his work and the mother was in Terre Haute shopping at the time of the tragedy.

DEFEATED BY A CLOSE VOTE

Street Railway Franchise Bill Meets Death in the House.

FIFTY-FIVE VOTE AGAINST IT

State Normal School at Berea and Technical Department at Delaware Home—Partial Appropriation Measure Amended and Passed by Each Branch—Deings of Ohio Legislature.

Columbus, O., March 1.—Following prolonged debate, the mooted street railway franchise bill of Representative Metzger of Cuyahoga, and which had the active support of Mayor Johnson, was lost in the house, the vote being, ayes 49, nays 55. The bill provides that councils of cities may establish street car routes upon the referendum of the question to the people without consent of adjoining property owners.

An effort was made to save the bill by the offering by Representative Braun of Franklin of an amendment prepared by Mayor Johnson, providing that a franchise ordinance should not be valid if protested against by the owners of a majority of the property fronting on a street upon which a street railroad was not already in operation. This amendment was adopted, 53 to 29, but later the bill failed.

Two school appropriation measures were passed by the lower branch, one by McGinnis, appropriating $585,000 for interest upon the irreducible school debt, and the other by Woodburn, appropriating $2,200,000 for the support of the common schools.

Yost's bill, providing for the examination and licensing of stationary steam firemen, was indefinitely postponed by the house. Vote 58 to 15. The Humphrey house resolution, memorializing congress to pension ex-union prisoners of war, was adopted by the senate.

The house passed the Tinker measure, extending to the cities of Ironton and Chillicothe the provisions of the registration laws, and also to provide that registration days in all cities shall be as follows: The Thursdays in the fifth and fourth weeks before election and the Friday and Saturday in the third week before election.

The sum of $10,000 was set aside by the house to establish a technical and industrial school at the Delaware home for girls. Frizell of Montgomery fathered the bill.

Bills passed by house: H. B. Mr. Lehman, making power houses, machine shops, etc., of interurban railway companies taxable in the county in which they are located; H. B. Mr. Paine, authorizing cities to levy a tax not exceeding one-fourth of a mill for the support of art galleries and academies controlled by private corporations; H. B. Mr. Van Dusen, empowering township trustees to pay for the bonding of treasurers out of township funds.

Both branches passed the Baldwin partial appropriation bill. It was amended, changing the salary of the state liquor tax deputy in the auditor of state's office from $2,000 to $1,700, and that of the liquor tax deputy in the same office from $1,500 to $1,750; adding $12,000 for current expenses to the state reformatory; restoring the "balance and receipts" items for the state fire marshal, state medical board, state pharmacy board and board of uniform accounting, that were cut out of the bill in the house, and adding an item of $12,500 for the expenses of the Cincinnati Lexow committee.

Bills passed in the senate: S. B. Mr. Schmidt, establishing a state normal school at Berea; S. B. Mr. Duvall, providing that in school elections the names of candidates shall be placed on the ballot without party designation; S. B. Mr. Williams, providing that all vacancies in councils shall be filled by general election, and extending present terms one year; S. B. Gayman, changing the law governing juvenile courts.

Bills introduced in the senate: By Mr. Meek, revising the schedule of fees of county school examiners and increasing them; by Mr. Hypes, providing that reports of injuries in factories, made to the state inspector, cannot be used as evidence in suits to recover damages.

Anarchist to Be Deported.

San Francisco, March 1.—Thomas Crawford, United States immigrant inspector, left for New York with Benedetto Tordani, an Italian anarchist, who is to be sent home to Italy by order of the secretary of the department of commerce and labor. Benedetto served 10 years in the penitentiary of this state, for burning a warehouse at Petaluma. After his release he went to Italy, where he was imprisoned for carrying concealed weapons. When released he returned to Petaluma with the avowed intention of murdering the officers who arrested him for arson. He was confined in the jail at Santa Rosa several months. He openly declared himself to be an anarchist and in answer to a question said he would as soon kill the president of the United States as any other man.

Hugged White Girls.

St. Louis, March 1.—Joseph Wilder, a negro, was convicted in police court of having seized and hugged two white girls on the street and was fined $1,000, the maximum penalty. He was unable to pay and was locked up.

THE BANKING BILL IN LEGISLATURE

PROVISIONS OF MEASURE UNDER CONSIDERATION BY SOLONS AT COLUMBUS

Of Interest to Depositors—Its Purpose Is to Improve Banking Laws of Ohio.

A bill relating to the organization of banks, and to provide for the inspection of banks, is now under consideration by the general assembly. It was introduced by Hon. Warren Thomas of Trumbull. (H. B. 250.)

This measure is of vital importance to the business interests of the state and of special interest to that large majority of the people who are bank depositors. Following is:

A Synopsis of the Bill.

This bill provides for the organization, regulation and inspection of all banking companies that may be hereafter incorporated, and for the inspection of all banks incorporated under state laws now doing business, but it preserves to all such banks, without impairment, all the rights, privileges and powers heretofore conferred upon them. It also provides that all existing corporations may re-incorporate under this act, if they so elect, and thereby have conferred upon them all the privileges and powers conferred by the act. In doing so the corporation can enlarge or diminish the purposes for which it is incorporated so as to combine one or more of the classes of business authorized by the act, without affecting the legality, or being required to change any investments or transactions previously made.

Classes of Banks Authorized.

The act authorizes the incorporation of commercial banks, savings banks, safe deposit companies, trust companies, and corporations combining any two or more, or all of these classes.

Amount of Capital Required.

The minimum amount of capital required, which is to be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, is as follows:

For commercial banks.....	$ 25,000
For savings banks.....	25,000
For a commercial and savings bank.....	25,000
For a safe deposit company.....	25,000
For a commercial bank and a safe deposit company.....	25,000
For a commercial bank, a savings bank and a safe deposit company.....	50,000
For a trust company.....	100,000
For a trust company and a safe deposit company.....	100,000
For a savings bank and a trust company.....	100,000
For a savings bank, safe deposit company and a trust company.....	125,000
For a commercial bank, savings bank, safe deposit company and a trust company.....	125,000

How Capital Must Be Paid In.

The entire authorized capital must be subscribed and at least 50 per cent must be paid in before a banking corporation can commence business. The remainder of the subscribed capital must be paid in in monthly installments of at least 10 per cent, payable at the end of each succeeding month. The stock of stockholders who fail to pay their installments when due must be sold. If it cannot be sold, it must be cancelled. Whenever the capital stock of any bank is reduced below the minimum required by law, from any cause, it must be raised to the minimum within sixty days. If this is not done, the superintendent of banks may apply for a receiver.

The capital of a bank may be increased or decreased by proper action of the stockholders, but it must not be reduced below the required minimum in any case.

No bank shall advertise in any manner a larger capital than is actually paid in. A severe penalty is provided for violation of this provision.

Board of Directors.

Boards of directors may consist of not less than five nor more than thirty persons. Each director must own at least five shares of stock in his own name, unencumbered and pledged in any way, and must take an oath of office.

The board of directors has full control of the government of the corporation. It must meet at least once a month, and shall appoint an executive committee.

Bank Officers.

Bank officers are to be elected by the board of directors. They must furnish bond for the faithful discharge of their duties. Severe penalties are prescribed for malfeasance in office, including embezzlement, misapplication of any part or all of the funds or property of the bank, making false entries, defrauding, etc.

Executive Committee.

The executive committee must consist of not less than three stockholders or directors. It must meet not less than once a month. It must pass on all loans and investments, and in doing so, must be governed by instructions given by the board of directors. It must keep minutes of its meetings and report to the board of directors.

Examinations by Stockholders.

The board of directors must appoint annually a committee of at least two stockholders or directors to thoroughly examine, or to superintend the examination of, all the assets and liabilities of the corporation, and to report to the board of directors the result of said examination.

Surplus and Dividends.

Before paying any dividend, the board of directors must carry to surplus one-tenth of the net profits of the period covered by the dividend, until such surplus is equal to twenty per cent of the authorized capital. Provision must be made for the payment of all expenses, losses, interest charges, taxes, etc., after which the amount of the dividend may be determined at the discretion of the board of directors.

Joint Deposit Accounts.

Joint deposit accounts may be opened by two or more persons subject to check by any one party to the agreement, which shall continue for the use of a survivor after the death of one or more of the parties to the agreement.

Certification of Checks.

All certified checks must be charged to the account of the person drawing the check when they are certified. A check must not be certified for a larger amount than is actually on deposit in the bank to the credit of the person drawing the check. Severe penalties are prescribed for the violation of these provisions.

Limitations On Loans.

No person, firm or corporation shall be allowed to become indebted to a bank for any amount in excess of 30 per cent of its paid-in capital and surplus, and all such indebtedness in excess of 20 per cent of the capital and surplus must be adequately secured by deposits of collateral. Discounts of bills of exchange drawn against existing values, and discounted commercial or business paper actually owned by a person, firm or corporation negotiating the same, are not to be considered as a part of their indebtedness in determining the limit of their credit.

For commercial banks, loans secured by real estate shall not exceed 50 per cent of their capital, surplus and deposits. For savings banks, or for commercial and savings banks combined, loans so secured shall not exceed 60 per cent of their capital, surplus and deposits. Real estate shall not be accepted as security for loans in excess of 40 per cent of the value of unimproved property, or 60 per cent of the value of improved property, and all improved property pledged as security for a loan must be kept adequately insured.

Bank Reserves.

All banks must keep a reserve equal in amount to 15 per cent of their total deposits, of which an amount equal to 5 per cent of their demand deposits and 2½ per cent of their time deposits must be held in cash. The balance of the reserve may be held on deposit in other banks and trust companies, subject to check on demand.

Investments in Securities.

(1) Commercial banks may invest their capital and deposits in or loan the same upon:

(a) Personal or collateral securities;

(b) Bonds or other interest bearing obligations of the United States, or in those for which the faith of the United States is pledged to provide for the payment of the interest and principal, including the bonds of the District of Columbia; also in bonds or other interest bearing obligations of any foreign government;

(c) Stocks and bonds, or interest bearing obligations of this or any other state of the United States;

(d) Bonds, or interest bearing obligations of any city, village, hamlet, county, township or other body politic, and bonds or interest bearing obligations issued in behalf of the public schools, and the means of instruction connected therewith, of this or any other state of the United States for the payment of which the faith and credit of such city, village, hamlet, county, township, school district or other body issuing them is pledged;

(e) Mortgage bonds or collateral trust bonds of any regularly incorporated company; but the superintendent of banks may order any such securities sold within six months which he may deem undesirable.

(2) Savings banks may invest their capital and deposits in or loan the same upon the securities authorized for commercial banks, with the exception that, in the case of savings banks, the promissory notes of individuals and firms must be secured by a sufficient pledge of collateral approved by the executive committee or board of directors. Collateral security is not required for the promissory notes of corporations.

(3) Trust companies may invest their capital and deposits (excepting deposits for the investment of which some other mode of investment is prescribed by the terms of the trust agreement), in or loan the same upon the securities authorized for commercial and savings banks, with the exception that stocks of corporations that have not paid dividends for five consecutive years shall not be accepted, and all promissory notes must be secured by collateral. In addition they may make investments in ground rents.

No commercial bank, savings bank, safe deposit company or trust company shall loan money on the security or pledge of the shares of its own capital stock, nor shall such companies purchase shares of their own capital stock unless such purchase shall be necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith.

In defining the powers of banks,

which is one of the important features of the bill, it sets out just what banks may do under the law, as follows:

Powers of Banks.

(1) Commercial banks may receive deposits on which interest may be allowed. All deposits in such banks shall be payable on demand without notice, except when the contract of deposit otherwise provides. They may also loan money on personal security, discount and negotiate promissory notes, drafts, bills of exchange, and other evidences of debt and buy and sell exchange, coin and bullion.

(2) Savings banks may receive deposits in any sum offered by any person, firm, society or corporation, or by any body politic, or that may be ordered to be deposited by any court having custody of money. They may also receive deposits from and pay the same to minors. They may pay such rates of interest on deposits as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the rate allowed by law. A pass book shall be issued to each depositor, containing the rules and regulations adopted by the board of directors governing his deposit, and in which shall be entered each deposit, the interest allowed thereon and each payment made to the depositor. No payment or check against any savings bank account shall be made or paid unless accompanied by and entered in the depositor's pass book. Savings banks may also issue time certificates of deposit.

(3) Safe deposit companies may receive on deposit, for safe keeping, property of any kind, and collect and disburse the interest or income upon any such property and the principal of the same when it becomes due. They may also act as agent for the purpose of registering, countersigning or transferring certificates of stock or other evidences of indebtedness.

Act on Trust Companies.

(a) Act as agent or trustee for the purpose of registering, countersigning or transferring certificates of stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness.

(b) Act as trustee under any mortgage or deed of trust.

(c) Receive and hold moneys or property in trust, or on deposit, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the parties.

(d) Act as trustee under any will, deed or other instrument creating a trust for the care and management of property, subject to control by the court having jurisdiction of the same.

(e) Accept and execute trusts of every description as may be committed to them by any person, firm, or corporation or by order of any court, and perform all acts necessary to a proper administration of such trusts.

Real Estate Ownership and Transactions.

A bank may lease a suitable building in which to transact its business, or it may purchase real estate whereon is erected, or it may erect such a building from the portions of which, not required for its use, a revenue may be derived, but the cost of such real estate and buildings shall not exceed 50 per cent of its paid-in capital and surplus. A bank may also hold such real estate as may be mortgaged or conveyed to it in good faith by way of security for loans made by or for money due to it. A bank may purchase real estate upon foreclosure of mortgages owned by it, or on judgments or decrees obtained or rendered for debts due to it, or in settlements effected to secure such debts, but all such property shall be sold by the bank within five years after it has acquired title to the same, unless upon application of the board of directors, the superintendent of banks shall extend the time within which the sale shall be made.

Liability of Trust Companies.

The capital of a trust company, with all its property and effects, shall be absolutely liable in case of any default whatever in any trust, but a court may at any time require additional security in any amount for any trust committed by it.

No trust company shall accept a trust until its capital stock shall be not less than one hundred thousand dollars, fully paid in, and until it shall have deposited securities with the treasurer of state, fifty thousand dollars provided its capital is two hundred thousand dollars or less, and one hundred thousand dollars when its capital is more than two hundred thousand dollars.

No trust company shall ever make a loan, directly or indirectly, to any of its directors, officers or employees. They must hold all trust property separate and apart from all other funds and they may be examined by any judge of a court under which they are acting in a trust capacity, or by any party interested in any trust under their control, touching their management of the same.

Consolidation and Liquidation.

Banks may consolidate, under certain requirements and conditions, but in no event can such consolidation be made to defeat or defraud any creditor.

Provisions governing the liquidation of banks are similar in character to provisions for the liquidation of business corporations in the general corporation law.

Inspection of Banks.

This bill provides for a Department of Banks, as an independent department of state, to be under the supervision of a superintendent of banks, to be appointed by the governor by and with the consent of the senate; a deputy superintendent, and examiners as may be necessary to carefully examine each state bank at least once a year, and oftener whenever adequate protection for depositors may demand.

Neither the superintendent, the deputy superintendent nor any assistant or examiner can be interested in any bank. They must take an oath and give bond not to make any unlawful disclosures of facts or information obtained through their examinations. Any person guilty of a violation of this provision shall, upon conviction, be fined not more than five hundred dollars and sentenced to the penitentiary for from one to five years.

All banks must make at least four reports each year to the superintendent of banks, which shall be published.

The Department of Banks, being for the protection of depositors, a large majority of whom are taxpayers, is to be provided for out of the general state revenue funds. When the superintendent of banks finds that a bank refuses, or is unable to pay depositors according to contract or law, or is otherwise insolvent, or that its capital is impaired, and the same is not rectified within ninety days, he can, with the approval of the attorney general, apply for the appointment of a receiver, practically in the same manner as provided in the general corporation law. No one employed in this department, in any capacity whatever, can be appointed as a receiver for any insolvent bank.

Repealing Clause.

The repealing clause eliminates all obsolete banking laws relating to free banking and the old State Bank of Ohio, and all other sections of the banking laws that are inoperative or will be rendered unnecessary by the enactment of this bill into law.

DEPOSITORY LAW

It Is Proposed that the Act Be Made Mandatory Instead of Optional With Treasurers.

Columbus, Mar. 1.—A depository law that will be compulsory upon every treasurer in the 88 counties of Ohio is the first fruit that will be borne of the investigation of Cincinnati and Hamilton county now being made by the committee of the senate. In the light of the disclosures which were brought out in Cincinnati last Friday and Saturday by this so-called Lexow committee, opposition to such bill is almost certain to disappear.

Representative Bronson has introduced a depository bill, which was drafted by the Ohio state board of commerce, and which meets with general favor. Senator Schmidt of Cuyahoga, one of the members of the committee, has commenced work upon a depository bill and expects to have it ready for introduction some time next week. It is planned after the special act under which county funds are now deposited with banks in Cuyahoga county. There the banks are paying 3.38 per cent for the use of county funds, yielding to the county about $90,000 a year. Similar special laws are in force in Lucas, Stark and Seneca counties. There is a general law on the statute books authorizing county commissioners to advertise and receive bids from banks for the use of county money, and in a few counties of the state advantage is taken of it. Hamilton county has never had any special law on the subject and its commissioners have never elected or put the general law into operation. The trouble with this general law is that it is optional.

The admissions made by Treasurer Rudolph K. Hynicka and a number of bankers of Cincinnati as to the methods which have been followed there for the past fifteen years have brought the question of a depository law into the front and made it one of the most important in this legislature. The claim is made that investigation would show similar conditions in nearly every county of the state, though not such a gigantic scale, perhaps.

Treasurer Hynicka freely admitted that during his first year in office he was paid over $20,000 by the banks of Cincinnati for the use of county funds; every bank in Cincinnati, with two exceptions, got the use of some of these funds. They paid to Hynicka 2½ per cent, while to the city, whose funds were deposited with them under the general municipal depository law, they paid only 2 per cent. County treasurers are not compelled to accept checks in payment of taxes, but they all do as a matter of accommodation to the public. In some counties these checks are sorted out each day and messengers sent to the banks on which they are drawn, cashed and the money at once carried back to the vaults of the county. Hynicka's method was to deposit these checks with the various banks for collection, in amounts ranging from $50,000 to $300,000, and then leave the money with the banks until there was occasion to pay it out, either to the city, the state or for some other purpose.

The result was that many banks had almost continual use of from $100,000 to $300,000, and for this they paid the treasurer 2½ per cent. Hynicka said, and in this he was corroborated by bankers and George Schott, who has been cashier in the office of the county treasurer for the last fifteen years, that it had been the custom for the treasurer to receive this gratuity during all that period. Tax collections in Hamilton county have averaged $7,000,000 for the last several years. At 2½ per cent the annual yield would be $2,625,000. Of course, these funds were not in the possession of the banks all the time, but at the least calculation the last three treasurers of Hamilton county divided among themselves over half a million dollars in "gratuities" from the banks. The legitimate fees which these treasurers collected in addition to this amounted to from $25,000 to $40,000 a year.

INCREASE

In Postoffice Appropriation to Meet Increase in Business.

Washington, March 1.—The subcommittee of the house committee on post-offices and post roads completed a bill fixing the appropriation for the department at about $192,000,000, or $10,000,000 more than the last appropriation. This increase is designed to meet the increase in the business of the department, which averages about 8 per cent annually. The bill provides for some sweeping changes in the department's methods, and contains a provision to prevent the shipment of anything but actual mail matter through the mails by the government. This is aimed at the government departments which have made free use of the mails in shipping furniture, etc. The appropriation in the bill for the rural free delivery is about $28,000,000, an increase of $3,000,000 over that of last year.

Indian Land Grant.

Washington, March 1.—For three hours Mr. Forsaker held the attention of the senate while he read a carefully-prepared speech on the railroad rate question. His speech was a protest against any general legislation, on the theory that the existing Elkins law could be so extended as to make it answer all the requirements. He did not fail, however, to point out what he considered the defects of the Hepburn-Doolittle bill and made the declaration more than once that it would fall to remedy the evils complained of. Mr. Forsaker's speech was followed by a further discussion of the railway land grab in the Indian territory, with the result that Mr. Aldrich's resolution extending the tribal government of the Indians was adopted after it was so modified as to carry that government over until March 4, 1907.

ARRESTS MADE

In Connection With the Trial of Former Bank President.

Albion, N. Y., March 1.—Two arrests were made in connection with the trial of Eugene A. Geogor, former president of the wrecked German bank of Buffalo, who is under indictment on a charge of grand larceny. The names of the prisoners are unknown, but it is believed that the arrests were made in connection with jury tampering. The police assert that certain men had been going through the country before the trial began offering large sums of money to induce men to get on the Geogor jury.

Says He Was Held in Slavery.

Evansville, Ind., March 1.—Alleging that he had been held in slavery for four years and forced to work for nothing, Victor Manolopoulos, 17, a Greek bootblack, has brought suit against his employers, three brothers named Botes, for $1,000 damages. The boy, after working four years, demanded a small sum of money as part payment and was assaulted by one of the employers, he says. A lawyer in the city interested himself in the case and found twelve small Greek boys employed under contract for $15 a month, but none of them had ever received his full salary, and all were a year or two years in arrears.

Refers in the Congo.

Boston, Mass., March 1.—The executive committee of the Congo Reform association of America met here to discuss the recent protest and appeal of the fifty-two missionaries of the various boards against the acts said to have been committed in the Congo region in violation of the general act of the conference of Berlin. A recent letter from Secretary of State Root was discussed, the general agreement of the committee being that the secretary had touched upon only one side of the issue and that it had now become advisable to present the facts on the other side to the people of the country.

Major Gillette Accepts.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—Having been unable to obtain an indefinite leave of absence, Major Cassius E. Gillette, one of the best-known engineers in the United States army, resigned his commission and Mayor Weaver immediately appointed and swore him in as chief engineer of the bureau of filtration of the city of Philadelphia. The position pays $17,000 a year. The major's resignation came as a great surprise.

Children Fatally Burned.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 1.—Beatrice Osborne, 5, was burned to death, and Lizzie Osborne, 7, was fatally burned by the explosion of a can of gasoline with which they were playing at Burnett, Ind., eight miles from here. The father is a coal miner. He was at his work and the mother was in Terre Haute shopping at the time of the tragedy.

DEFEATED BY A CLOSE VOTE

Street Railway Franchise Bill Meets Death in the House.

FIFTY-FIVE VOTE AGAINST IT

State Normal School at Berea and Technical Department at Delaware Home—Partial Appropriation Measure Amended and Passed by Each Branch—Deings of Ohio Legislature.

Columbus, O., March 1.—Following prolonged debate, the mooted street railway franchise bill of Representative Metzger of Cuyahoga, and which had the active support of Mayor Johnson, was lost in the house, the vote being, ayes 49, nays 55. The bill provides that councils of cities may establish street car routes upon the referendum of the question to the people without consent of adjoining property owners.

An effort was made to save the bill by the offering by Representative Braun of Franklin of an amendment prepared by Mayor Johnson, providing that a franchise ordinance should not be valid if protested against by the owners of a majority of the property frontage on a street upon which a street railroad was not already in operation. This amendment was adopted, 53 to 29, but later the bill failed.

Two school appropriation measures were passed by the lower branch, one by McGinnis, appropriating $535,000 for interest upon the irreducible school debt, and the other by Woodburn, appropriating $2,200,000 for the support of the common schools.

Yost's bill, providing for the examination and licensing of stationary steam firemen, was indefinitely postponed by the house. Vote 58 to 15. The Humphrey house resolution, memorializing congress to pension ex-union prisoners of war, was adopted by the senate.

The house passed the Tinker measure, extending to the cities of Ironton and Chillicothe the provisions of the registration laws, and also to provide that registration days in all cities shall be as follows: The Thursdays in the fifth and fourth weeks before election and the Friday and Saturday in the third week before election.

The sum of $10,000 was set aside by the house to establish a technical and industrial school at the Delaware home for girls. Friezel of Montgomery fathered the bill.

MADE SICK
By Escaping Gas Fumes Were the Guests of the Manhattan Hotel Wednesday Night.

Guests at the Manhattan hotel narrowly escaped asphyxiation Wednesday night from escaping gas fumes which came from an unenclosed heating attachment to a gas jet. One of the guests turned up the heater at a good height to heat the room and much of the gas escaped unburned. The transoms of several of the rooms were opened, among them being the room where the heater was located. The fumes soon filled the upper hall and entered several rooms, making a number of the guests very sick. J. C. Jones, a B. & O. fireman was unconscious when found. Dr. Baker was called in attendance and had some difficulty in reviving Jones. He was somewhat "flirty" after recovering from the effects of the gas, but has been ill all day Thursday. He will recover. None of the other cases were serious.

A million and a quarter dollars a year saved in cost of administration is already credited to the life insurance stir.

The job on Congressman Grosvenor was framed up last summer while he was a member of the Taft party which went to the Philippines to study conditions there, especially the tariff question, and how thoroughly the work was done in his absence is seen in the nomination of Albert Douglas, the Chillicothe attorney, at the recent Lancaster convention at which Grosvenor failed to get a vote from his own county. It is evident that there is to be no regret at the retirement of Grosvenor and the loss his retirement from Congress will be to the stand-pat element. It is said that Douglas is a tariff revisionist.

One of the examiners of the state bureau of uniform accounting, who was appointed an examiner by the state auditor about a year ago and who since that time has been making examinations of village accounts, now knows how it is himself and is in position to extend his sympathy to those officials who have been shown by examination to have been free in taking fees not allowed by law. The examiner referred to was city clerk at Findlay before his appointment as an examiner, and the accounts of Findlay have just been gone over by another examiner from the state bureau who finds that the sum of $447.49 in illegal fees was drawn by the city clerk who has been catching other village officers for a year. The report of the Findlay examination shows that the clerk took fees for making transcripts and on bond sales in face of the provision against anything in addition to fixed salary. It looks very much like an opportunity for the city of Findlay to get back a sum of money which should come without resort to suit to recover. The former clerk who is just now an examiner of municipal accounts has just the very best chance to set an example of prompt restoration.

BRONSON BILL KILLED

Bosses Not In Favor Of Much Reform In Primary Elections.

BOTH SIDES OF HOUSE DIVIDED

Republicans Are Trying to Unload the Blame On Democrats, But They Must Hold Only Their Own Statesmen Responsible.

Columbus, O., March 1.—Under the influence of bosses in the cities and rural sections have political bosses—the Bronson primary election law met the same fate it was accorded by the house two years ago. This time the house flattened out Bronson's pet measure by a vote of 57 to 47, with 17 not voting, five votes short of the necessary majority. On account of this close margin the bill may be restored to calendar under a motion to reconsider, and if it is the five votes needed might be recruited from the 17 who were "absent or not voting," providing various amendments are made. During debate on the bill numerous amendments were offered to meet local conditions in various counties, for there is no universal code in the political system of Ohio. Among its defects it was pointed out by Mr. Yost, Democratic floor leader, that it proposed an expensive system of conducting primary elections in small counties, citing that in his own county, Monroe, it would cost over $1,000 to

DR. W. O. THOMPSON,
President of Ohio State University and Member of Columbus
Board of Education.

hold primaries as proposed in the bill. This argument had considerable weight with the representatives of the smaller counties. The defeat of the bill cannot be charged consistently to either side of the house. If it were a test of party fealty the Republicans should hold responsible the Republicans who voted against the bill, its author being one of the Republican representatives of Franklin county, and not attempt to shift the blame entirely to the Democratic side as they are trying to do.

Analysis of the vote shows that 35 Republicans, 29 Democrats and 2 Independents voted for the bill; and that 14 Republicans voted with 33 Democrats against the bill. These 14 negative votes by Republicans would more than have carried it had they been cast with the majority. Hence, if Republicans want to put the measure before the public as being specially championed by Republicans, let them hold the 14 Republicans who voted against it and the 10 Republicans who didn't vote at all, including Speaker Thompson, as responsible for its defeat. Here is the vote in detail:

Nays: Ackley, D.; Adler, D.; Ashbrook, D.; Bishop, D.; Bowers, D.; Briggs, R.; Burkhardt, D.; Burnett, R.; Conroy, D.; Corlett, D.; Cosgrove, D.; Criswell, D.; Demuth, R.; Dever, R.; Diehl, D.; Elson, D.; Foster, D.; Gaston, R.; Grinnell, R.; Guthrie, D.; Harlan, D.; Hatfield, D.; Iryin of Preble, D.; Jones, R.; Kealy, D.; Kolinsky, D.; Mautberker, D.; Metzger, D.; Meyer, D.; Miller, D.; Mulac, D.; Neely, D.; Nye, D.; Pettit, D.; Phillips, R.; Pumphrey, R.; Reynolds of Cuyahoga, D.; Rolf, D.; Sawicki, D.; Smith of Cuyahoga, D.; Stuckey, R.; Tinker, R.; Wilson, R.; Winters, D.; Woodburn, R.; Woods, R.; Wynne, D.—47.

Not voting: Bassett, Billingslea, Goll, Grover, Judy, McLaughlin, Martin, Minter, Moon, Roll, Sengster, Smith of Wyandotte, Steward of Fairfield, Stewart of Clark, Thompson, Watson, Speaker Thompson—17.

Senator Huffman's bill to prohibit professors from being members of public school boards is supposed to be aimed at W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State university, although Mr. Huffman says it is meant to apply to Oxford.

for normal school training only, tacked by making the O. S. U. the only college subsidized by the state.

There may be still other motive forces back of the bill. Besides being president of the O. S. U., which would ordinarily be enough for one busy man to look after, Dr. Thompson is a member of the board of education of the Columbus public schools. There are those in Columbus who do not believe that Dr. Thompson can serve two educational systems any more than it is possible for a man to serve two masters. Besides, the Ohio State university is supposed to be removed from the eddies of partisan politics, and there is some broad hinting done at times that it is not becoming to have a nonpartisan educational institution of the state under the direction of one who was elected on a party ticket to serve the city in its school board. Dr. Thompson was elected a member of the Columbus school board as a candidate on the Republican ticket.

There are parents whose children go to the public schools who do not like the idea of any member of the state university faculty serving on the city school board. During the political campaign and since, especially in a recent flurry in the city school board, it was remarked that Dr. Thompson ought to resign from the O. S. U. if he wants to serve the Columbus public schools to the best of his ability, or resign from the city school board if he wants to serve the O. S. U. to the best of his ability.

It is possible that the inheritance tax may be repealed after all. There was much blow and bluster that the Republican house would defeat any attempt to repeal this law because it was a pet scheme of Governor Herrick which he willed to the Republican members of the legislature in his last message, and because its repeal was advocated by Governor Patterson and thus made "a party measure." As for the Beatty repeal bill passed by the senate, the house committee on taxation strangled it and reported instead the Reed bill to raise the exemption on inheritances from $3,000 to $10,000. When the Reed bill came up in the house, Representative Lybarger (Rep.) of Coshocton county, carried the Republican majority off its feet by offering a repealing clause as an amendment, and it went through with a whirl by a vote of 65 to 41, 22 Republicans voting for it and nine Democrats against it; and on final passage the house voted 76 to 25 for repeal. Mr. Lybarger introduced one of the bills which appeared earlier in the session to repeal the inheritance tax, which he denounced before the house as a law to "tax a hole in the ground unless you go in for cremation."

The repeal bill now goes to the senate, and will doubtless be accepted by that body. In a roundabout way the Taggart divorce case comes from Wooster to the Ohio legislature. Although the Taggart case is not specifically mentioned a bill introduced by Mr. Welker "by request" plainly applies to the difficulties of the army captain and his wife over the care and custody of their two boys. The bill introduced by Mr. Welker provides that in case of separation of husband and wife, the care and custody of children shall remain with the parent who is not at fault. The court, of course, must determine which parent is not at fault.

Representative Frizzell (Rep.) of Dayton put up a shrewd argument before the house committee on taxation in favor of the Aiken bill to increase the bow tax from $500 to $1,000 per year. He said a $1,000 tax will increase the revenue from $4,500,000 to $6,000,000, the reduction in the number of saloons being about 50 per cent. He was against a $500 or a $600 tax, because the Jones bill, he says, will wipe out many saloons all over the state, and this, with the number forced to quit business because of a $250 increase in tax, would make the reduction so large that he doubted whether $600 tax would bring as much revenue as is brought in at present with a $750 tax. The bill was discussed entirely as a taxation, not a temperance measure.

Only $50,000 is recommended by the house finance committee for Ohio's expenses at the Jamestown exposition next year. The resolution offered by Mr. Yost, the Democratic floor leader of the house, proposed $100,000, and that sum would not be too great for proper representation at Jamestown, as compared with Ohio's participation in the exhibitions at Chicago, Buffalo and St. Louis. Not much of a building could be provided out of $50,000 and leave sufficient funds for its maintenance during the exposition.

The $50,000 appropriation is provided for in Senator Vanover's resolution, which also authorizes the appointment of an exposition commission.

When Representative Winters of Erie county introduced a bill to make it a misdemeanor for any bedizened dame of the demi-monde to entice our bashful and unsophisticated boys not yet 15, he raised a question that the house will probably be able to settle with a Republican caucus to convert it into "a party measure." Now if the reform impulse will move the legislature to make it a penitentiary offense for male buffoons of any age to ogle and annoy decent girls and women for evident purpose of seduction, a long stride will be made on the path of real reform. Nothing has been done with the Winters bill to date, and it may not be heard of again.

DAY NURSERY

WILL EMPLOY MR. CORNELIUS VARGA AS AUTHORIZED CANVASSER.

He Will Call on Every Person and Every Home for Contributions to This Worthy Cause.

Beginning April 1, the Day Nursery will be located in its new and larger quarters, No. 82 East Main street, the northeast corner of East Main and First streets. The Mary Webb Memorial Circle of the King's Daughters with its advisory board and executive committee are to be congratulated on the work already done, the progress made and the practical plans for enlarged usefulness. The new quarters will be ample for office, play room, kindergarten, dining room, kitchen, laundry and sleeping apartments. The upper rooms will be rented furnished or unfurnished to deserving young women and a cooking exchange with employment bureau will be conducted in connection with the regular work of the Day Nursery. The success of the institution so far has exceeded all expectations. Business and professional men, public and charitable spirited women and men have responded most heartily to the nursery's needs. The board now proposes placing an authorized canvasser in the city. Mr. Cornelius Varga has been employed and will call upon every person and every home interested in this deserving institution. As soon as possible it will be placed upon a self sustaining basis. In the meantime a nominal fee or subscription will be solicited.

The present matron, Mrs. Clara Parks, has been identified with similar institutions for the past six years and is peculiarly fitted for her present position. The Newark Daily Advocate speaks a liberal response to this modest request of one of the city's much needed institutions.

SHEPPARD MAY BE IN CUBA

Zanesville, O., March 1.—Reports from New York City state that a man answering to the description of A. J. Sheppard, the missing Zanesville attorney, was seen to board a vessel bound for Cuba last Wednesday.

The fact that Sheppard had been heard to joke frequently about John Rockefeller's sojourn in the West Indies is regarded as further evidence that he has gone south.

Every hour adds to the total of Sheppard's indebtedness. A canvas of attorneys shows that there are claims to the amount of about $25,000 that have not been paid.

It has also been discovered that Sheppard approached a number of his former friends for loans during the past month, evidently having made a systematic canvas of his friends for funds. He borrowed everywhere and from all classes of people. Even young women stenographers are coming forward with small claims. The small farm which he left, already heavily mortgaged, has been plastered over with attachments.

It stated that they were enjoying the trip immensely and that the weather was splendid. It is not known just when Mr. Wehrle and Dr. Rank will return.

RUSE

USED BY THE TWO CLEVER OFFICERS SAVED GAY.

The Cincinnati Sleuth, Who Shot Saloon Keeper O'Connell, From the Mob.

Middletown, O., March 1.—The death of W. J. O'Connell, who was shot by Detective Charles Gay, of Cincinnati, during a raid of the police on a crap game conducted by O'Connell Monday night, occurred on Wednesday afternoon. Fearing trouble Chief of Police Kelly sent Gay to Hamilton in charge of Deputy Sheriff Fred Bisdorf, and he is now in the custody of Sheriff Brannon. A large number of O'Connell's friends were outspoken against Gay and threats of violence in the event of the wounded man's death were made.

Attorney Warren Gaud, of Hamilton, and Max Frahm, of Cincinnati, the latter a partner of O'Connell in the wholesale liquor business here, were in Middletown yesterday, and steps to prosecute Gay were taken. It is said O'Connell made a statement of the shooting Tuesday and signed it before death. Besides his wife and child, two brothers, Edward, of Cincinnati and Richard of this city, survive him.

His death recalls another sad occurrence in the history of his family, whereby his father, mother and sister were drowned in the Hydraulic which flowed through the Titus farm, on which they resided.

The Red Men and Eagles, of which orders O'Connell was a member, will probably have charge of the funeral.

JAMES GREEN

WHO ATTEMPTED MURDER AND SUICIDE TELLS OF MAN IN THE CASE

Who He Says Caused the Trouble Between Him and His Wife—The Woman is Recovering.

Cambridge, O., March 1.—There are no developments in the case of James Green, the Mantua prisoner, who is still confined in the county jail, waiting action of the grand jury. Word received from the bedside of Mrs. Green is to the effect that she is now considered out of danger and is slowly improving each day. She is still being cared for by her sister, Mrs. William Culbertson, near the Green home.

Green is greatly changed in appearance since he was placed in confinement. His wound has about healed and he is able to talk without difficulty. He appears to be a man of some education and not the degenerate some papers have been making him out. He is being treated by Dr. E. E. Vorhies, prison physician, and is now able to leave his cell and is permitted to mingle with the other prisoners at will.

In speaking of the man who, he claims, caused all the trouble, Green said that he first met him one day last winter when he appeared at his house and asked Mrs. Green if he could stay there all night. The request was granted, but in the morning he failed to leave the house and stayed for some time after Green had asked and commanded him to go. Since then Green said this man has appeared at his house a number of times, and has frequently threatened to kill him.

Green said that he was sure that his wife had forgiven him, for just before Sheriff Watson took him away from home she put forth her hand and grasped it. He has not heard directly from Mrs. Green since being placed in jail.

Mr. Green was willing to talk of the outing, but did not seem to have any thing new to add to what has already been published. He expressed regret that he had tried to kill his wife and commit suicide, and said that he had not heard from her for a day or so and inquired anxiously as to her condition. When informed that she was improving his face seemed to brighten up and he said that he was glad to hear that.

A BOOZER

As Well as an Elopers is the Missing Advocate of Temperance, the Truant Officer Reports.

Delaware, March 1.—Gradually Truant Officer Bailey is divulging the statements made to him by Superintendent at Stokes on the day he fled with a Latin teacher. The last words of Stokes to Bailey were: "It ever the opportunity presents I will marry Mary, for I love her as my own soul."

Bailey said Wednesday that Stokes and Miss Chazan might be in Mexico. Stokes told Bailey that he would write to him, but the truant officer says that it will never be known should Stokes fulfill his promise.

The friends of Prof. Stokes received another jolt when Bailey confessed that he and Stokes spent several hours in a cafe in Columbus Saturday where intoxicating liquors are sold freely. Stokes had been known as a strong advocate of temperance.

FIRE AT PRISON

Discovered by "Crimpy" Frazier and a Prompt Alarm Was Sent to the Central Department.

Crimpy Frazier's excellent lungs probably saved the city from a heavy loss by fire Wednesday night when a small blaze originated in the cell room of the city prison where the prisoners were sleeping. Except in desperate cases, the prisoners are not locked in their cells but are allowed the freedom of the corridor. Crimpy was lying asleep on the cement floor in front of a big gas stove in the cell room last night about 9:30 o'clock, when he was awakened by a stifling smoke which filled the already foul atmosphere of the prison. He roused himself and discovered a big blaze leaping towards the ceiling barely six feet from his head.

It was then that Frazier exhibited the power of his lungs. He set up a cry of fire which could have been heard half way to the court house. Turnkey Atherton, who was in the chief's office, heard the commotion and after learning the cause of the noise, called the fire department by phone, box 24 being sounded.

The gas in the stove which heats the prisoners' quarters was turned up high and the heat set fire to the woodwork behind the stove. It was easily extinguished with a small chemical. The loss was small but the prisoners were nearly smothered by the dense smoke.

That Red Wagon.

A red wagon hauling furniture has been seen on nearly every street in Newark during the past week. A number of people have been asking to whom does it belong and why is there no name on it. Upon inquiry we have discovered that this is an extra wagon pressed into service by the Powers-Miller company to enable them to take care of the tremendous amount of furniture, carpets, and rugs delivered during the house-cleaning period, which has now begun in earnest in this city.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inculcated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

At Plymouth Church.

The services last evening in Plymouth church was in many ways the best thus far. A splendid audience gathered, and joined heartily in the service of song led by the chorus under the direction of Mr. A. A. Blaisdell, a fine spirit prevailed when Dr. Cushman came to speak. He was at his best, at any rate he gave us a discourse that revealed with wonderful clearness the glory of the religion of Jesus Christ, and the part each person must play in order to make life a supreme success. The sermon could not be reported but its reason and naturalness appealed to the great audience in such a manner as to bring almost every person to their feet in response to the appeal.

Service tonight at 7:15. Subject of the discourse, "Provisional Duty." Come and bring another, that is if you wish to hear the Gospel of the Lord uniquely presented.

DOESN'T COVET A FEDERAL JOB

General Grosvenor of Ohio Issues a Brief Statement.

DENIES CERTAIN REPORTS

Interesting Testimony Offered in the Dynamiting Case—Woman Robbed in Church—Hotel Guests Flee From Fire—Miscellaneous News of the Buckeye State.

Washington, March 1.—Congressman Grosvenor of Ohio gave out the following statement: "I desire to state that the subject of my nomination, or failure to be renominated, or any thing connected with the subject, has never been discussed between the president and myself, nor has it been mentioned in the presence of the president to me, or by him to me. There has never been a word said by me to the president, or any one else, intimating that I would seek, or accept any consular appointment in Europe or elsewhere, nor have I sought, nor will I seek, any federal appointment whatever, nor would I accept any consular appointment within the present gift of the president of the United States. I have never made any statement as to what I would do or would not do in regard to the non-support or support of any candidate for congress in the Eleventh district of Ohio, and I do not believe it is necessary at this time to make any statement in regard to that matter, or any other matter, connected with my devotion to duty in the matter of political action."

Says He Lost His Nerve.

Wapakoneta, O., March 1.—Park Wright, who testified he was hired with Riley Colton to blow up the bullet-proof St. Mary's church, lost his nerve and threw his dynamite in the lock without lighting the fuse. He testified to this in the case against Isaac Sheeley, who is charged with hiring the men for the job. Wright corroborated Riley Colton's story. An attempt was made by the defense to discredit him as a witness on the ground that he was discredited as the star witness in the famous Dillie murder case at Celina, O. The court intervened and said Wright's testimony must go for what it is worth.

Bunch of Indictments.

Findlay, O., March 1.—The grand jury at the special session spring a surprise by returning thirty-five indictments. The officials guard the names and facts jealously. From authority in the court house, however, it is learned that many prominent business men in the city have been indicted, including proprietors of cigar stores and confectioneries where any form of a game of chance was permitted.

Two Fires.

East Liverpool, O., March 1.—Fire broke out in the kitchen at the Thompson house and the guests ran from the building in slumber garments. One guest, in his haste, threw a box of jewels from his room, and it cannot be found. The loss to the hotel is trifling. The Mountford stit works, a pottery supply plant, burned with a loss of $10,000.

Flint Glass Workers' Scale.

Steubenville, O., March 1.—Flint glass workers of the United States and Canada agreed to accept a sliding scale, which means a reduction of 20 to 25 per cent in lamp chimneys, reflectors and globes, the country over. This, it is said, will enable the independent manufacturers to fight the so-called trust. The agreement means that the threatened strike of flint glass workers will be averted.

Block Scorched.

Delaware, O., March 1.—Fire partially destroyed the W. and Z. block, occupied by the Delaware Supply company and the upper floor by the Eagle lodge. The loss to the supply company is about $4,000. On the building, $3,000. The loss to the Eagles was caused entirely by smoke and may reach $1,000.

Gift to Wittenberg.

Springfield, O., March 1.—Wittenberg college received for theological and art purposes a gift of $125,000 in farm lands from Dr. H. W. Hanna of Baltimore, Md., one of the most prominent men in the Lutheran church. He gave the college the Hanna divinity hall.

Robbed in Church.

Sandusky, O., March 1.—While kneeling at the sanctuary rail at St. Mary's Catholic church, an unknown young man is supposed to have stolen a purse containing about $15 in cash and certificates of deposit with local banks to the amount of $1,500.

Gypsy's Fate.

Piqua, O., March 1.—Mrs. Lillie Bykett, aged 45, is a member of a band of gypsies, died from burns. Her clothing ignited when she came in contact with a camp fire.

Throat Cut.

St. Marys, O., March 1.—Peter Wolf, 55, was found dead in his room. He cut his throat with a shoe knife.

Cotton Mill Burns.

Fall River, Mass., March 1.—Fire destroyed the store house of Granite cotton mill No. 2. The loss is $125,000. The store house contained a large amount of raw material, including 1,500 bales of Egyptian cotton.

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Residents of Newark Cannot Doubt
What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs— from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Dean's Kidney Pills. Residents of Newark, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Dean's Kidney Pills to Newark sufferers.

E. Frank Edwards, plasterer, of 153 1/2 St. Newark, O., says: "I had backache and had it bad. For several years I was suffering from sharp shooting pains in the back of my legs and a dull aching and weakness in the back which was becoming very serious. I tried many remedies without finding relief and finally lost hope when I began using Dean's Kidney Pills, obtained at Clayton's drug store. It was a gratifying surprise to find after a few doses of this remedy that my back seemed somewhat abated and I continued the treatment for some little time, using several boxes. I was thoroughly cured. I gave a testimonial at that time recommending Dean's Kidney Pills to others. It is now eight years since I made that statement, and I am glad to be able to say that the cure was permanent."

SPRINGFIELD RIOT

The call for more troops was received shortly after noon, and a consultation was held between General Hughes and General John C. Speer of the Second Brigade. A similar all had been received Tuesday night, but instead of sending the companies they were placed in readiness and the second call found them in a position to move at once, as even the special train was waiting near the Union station. When the Springfield civil authorities made the request they told of their fears, and more particularly that in case an mob would be unsuccessful in one place it may take to other parts of the city, and that property and life were in great danger. They did not hesitate to say that they looked for trouble during the night.

The companies are in charge of Captain Richard E. Hall, Captain Frank L. Oyle, Captain Edward M. Shummons and Captain Harold M. Bush. The latter commander has over of his machine guns. The train was made up of two coaches and a baggage car. There are 132 men in the line, with nine officers. Colonel C. C. Amnell, of the Fourth placed in command of all troops at Springfield. The two companies at Dayton are ordered to remain at their quarters for emergency work, as a precaution in case Montgomery county jail should be stormed. The companies at Miamiburg, Piqua and Eaton will be sent on a moment's notice to Springfield. The two companies at Dayton are in command of Major R. L. Huber.

Springfield, O., March 1.—The riot and race war began here Tuesday night as a result of the shooting of M. M. Davis, a railroad man, by Ladd and Dean, colored, was continued Wednesday night, the eight companies of troops called out to assist the local officials in preserving order not being able to prevent the destruction of two houses and the partial demolition of a dozen or more others at the hands of the mob. The riots have consisted mainly of marching mobs, which either set fire to or stoned houses of negroes. Hundreds of people were in the streets and excitement continues intense. A white man is reported to have been killed, a white boy, Ora Willis, was shot in the thigh and seriously hurt, and two girls are said to have been injured by flying shot.

The military seems to have the riot situation well in hand and no further trouble is anticipated. Many negroes have left the city. Colonel Amnell, in charge of the militia, is pursuing the rioters with vigor and as a result thirty arrests on charges of rioting have been made. One man, John Pierpont, was shot by a negro in the east end of the city at a late hour. The negro fired from an upper window while his house was being stoned.

The mobs of men and boys succeeded in burning two houses and had stoned and partially demolished a dozen others, all being inhabited by negroes. Of the two houses burned, one was occupied by George Miller and the other by Jim Logan. Both houses were first fired upon and stoned. Miller and his family rushed out through a rear door and, driving behind freight cars, ran ten blocks to the mayor's office. In the darkness he lost trace of his family. From the Miller house the crowd moved to the Logan dwelling. They had cut the fire hose and the work of the fire department was useless. After firing the Logan house the mob cut the hose a second time and the residence was soon in ashes. The state troops were in hot pursuit of some of the rioters and at Central avenue chased them at the point of the bayonet. Even while this was going on some of the members of the mob who were at a safe distance from the soldiers continued to stone the houses of negroes, windows being riddled by their rocks.

Mob Threw Stones.

The house of Rev. John Schurly, negro preacher, was stoned and the family fled in terror from it. The mob then set fire to it, but the prompt arrival of the militia prevented its destruction. The homes of Reuben Campbell and Charles Fulmore, on Central avenue, were riddled with stones and at this point a boy, whose name is not known, was shot in the leg. The militia devoted their attention to control of the larger crowds, leaving the police to look after the smaller end of the riot. Promiscuous shooting was a feature and added to the general terror. Two negro women who jumped from the second stories of their house when assailed by the mobs were seriously hurt and were taken to the hospital.

The Fleecker's Nest, which is inhabited by negroes, and which figured in the mob and race riot of two years ago, was assailed last night and several attempts made to fire it, but as it was guarded by militia the effort failed. Several negroes who had been chased by the angry whites from the negro quarter of the city made their way to the city building, which is in charge of the soldiers. An x-ray examination of Martin Davis, the wounded brickman, was made, but the bullet was not located. Acting Prosecuting Attorney Laybourne, just before midnight took the dying statement of Martin Davis, which will be used against the accused when they come to trial. Davis is the son of a Columbus attorney. A committee of lawyers consisting of City Solicitor Tatum, former Representative Charles E. Stewart and Paul A. Staley has been appointed to prosecute the cases against the rioters. A mass meeting has been called by the Commercial club president, N. H. Fairbanks, a brother of Vice President Fairbanks, to devise means to eradicate the causes which have made the rioting possible. The meeting has been called for tonight.

It was also reported that an attack would be made on the jail in Dayton if the militia in waiting there is moved to this city. The railroad men are said to be anxious to get hold of the negroes who were implicated in the shooting of Davis.

Pattison Confident.

Columbus, O., March 1.—Governor Pattison has placed entire confidence in the ability of Adjutant General Hughes and his office to cope with the Springfield affair. In fact, the governor was not kept informed during the night by bulletins of what was occurring, so implicitly did he trust in General Hughes. General Hughes was complimented by direction of the governor on his prompt action in ordering out troops. Complying with a formal request from Sheriff Munroe for more guardsmen to protect the property in the Springfield negro district, Adjutant General Hughes ordered out four local companies of the Fourth regiment, and they proceeded to Springfield by special train.

RETURN TO DAYTON.

Officers Attempt to Take Negro Suspects to Springfield.

Dayton, O., March 1.—A dramatic incident in connection with the Springfield riot and the recent removal here of Edward Dean and Preston Ladd to escape the mob, was enacted Wednesday night. Under an order from the officials at Springfield, Deputy Sheriff Lawrence and Detective Long of Springfield arrived here after dark to take the men to Springfield for identification by M. M. Davis, the railroad brakeman, who was reported as dying. They boarded a traction car, but at Midway, a station seven miles from Springfield, were met by a courier who had been sent to inform them that the coming of the prisoners was anticipated by the mob and that they would certainly be lynched if taken into the city. The officers with their prisoners made a record-breaking run back to Dayton, going the distance of twenty miles in twenty-five minutes on a special car provided by the traction company.

CUBAN DECREE

Revokes Concessions Granted to an American Corporation.

Havana, March 1.—Vested interests depending on municipal concessions are apprehensive on account of the precedent established by a decree prepared by Secretary of the Interior Freyre Andrade and signed by President Palma, revoking the ninety-nine year concession granted by the Havana city council to the Havana Subway company, a Delaware corporation, permitting the construction of conduits for wire, etc., throughout the city. The original concession required that the work be completed in two years. The company failed to fulfill this condition partly because it became involved in litigation with an electric company possessing similar rights. The council recently granted an extension of six months, but this the secretary of the Interior, by the authority of President Palma, revoked, and the concession was declared void. The old style sharp-pointed shoe of Spanish origin has nearly disappeared in Mexico, having been replaced by the American last.

OBITUARY

FUNERAL OF MISS HAWKINS.

The funeral of Miss Mayne Hawkins took place Thursday, the remains being shipped to Quaker City for interment. Miss Hawkins formerly lived in Cambridge with her parents and had many warm friends there. She was a talented young woman and was exceedingly brave during her illness which lasted several years.

She was born in Quaker City in 1881 and would have been 35 years old in April. Seven years ago she moved with her parents to Cambridge and became associated with her father in architecture and building, having taken a scientific course and developed considerable skill in architectural world. Close application to duties in which she was interested, undermined her constitution, never very rugged and she went to Columbus, N. C., hoping to gain permanent benefit, during the winter of 1925. In this year her parents moved to Newark and the daughter came from the south to the new home where every care and attention were given her.

MANY DOGS

Have Been Reported as Dangerous to Pedestrians and the Mayor Has Ordered Them Shot.

The "lid" on dogs was applied tight on Thursday by several new orders issued from the Mayor's office and the action of Officer Robert Ziegler in executing canine in the rear of the Stadel building in South Second street. The dog belonged to a man who gave his name as Swan. His caniness had been acting strangely for several days and "threw a fit" Thursday morning. Swan called upon Patrolman Ziegler to relieve the community of what might prove a dangerous nuisance.

Orders were issued from the Mayor's office to Al Phenice of South Second street and Mrs. Horshor of the same part of the city, ordering them to dispose of dogs which are pronounced dangerous by people in their neighborhood. Complaints continue to come in from all sections of the city about alleged vicious dogs and now are given any mercy. George Gearhart of the Franklin's Addition, was given permission to kill a big vicious brute which has made the lives of pedestrians in that part of the city rather miserable. The animal seemed to belong to know one and lies in a big field near the street until some one approaches and immediately he runs hostile demonstrations. The men have been able to fight off the dog but women and children are compelled to run for safety.

Mayor McClure received a communication from Mrs. P. A. Green in which she begged the officers not to kill her two dogs. Mrs. Green is troubled with defective hearing and she stated that her dogs were trained for her protection. She stated that one of the animals was so well trained that when any one knocked at the door, the dog would find her in any part of the house and bring her to the door. She concluded her letter by saying: "I hate to see a policeman shooting poor innocent dumb animals. I never like to read about funerals of brucials of dogs. I think it is wicked." Her letter was dated "At Sweet Home February 26, 1936."

UNION CENTER.

Again this place which for so long a time seemed apparently dead, is coming from under the wheels of time and yet not completely crushed. For a long time our quiet little place has led a life of its own, only a small part of its happenings having reached the outside world, and this only by chance.

From the indications our place should be represented at some convention where the good roads question will be discussed. Here at the two roads districts in this section of St. Albans township, both the supervisors and men have been ready to improve the roads, but on inquiry of the honorable authorities of the township, tools were not at hand to work with. At one time about one year ago a certain supervisor wished to place a new culvert where it was badly needed as it had become dangerous to travel but it was not secured, and in a rainy time water poured over the road in torrents washing it out more and more. Other sections have fairly good graded roads covered with gravel, and why not us?

BUCKET BRIGADE

WAS FORMED TO SUPPLY THE OLD ENGINE WITH WATER YEARS AGO.

One line of Women, Another of Men
Extended from Main Street to the Canal in 1844.

A day or two ago the Advocate mentioned the fact that workmen were engaged in remodeling and repairing the upper floors of the Newkirk building, occupied by Rue Emerson's clothing store, and that in tearing up the floors, charred timbers were exposed to view, giving evidence that a fire had at one time broken out in the building.

The publication of the item vividly recalled to the mind of Mr. Thomas Sites, one of Newark's oldest citizens, one of the most sensational fires he ever witnessed in Newark. Mr. Sites, in talking to the Advocate reporter, said that when quite a young boy he lived with his parents on the Canal near where the old county jail now stands. He said that as near as he can recollect, the fire which nearly destroyed the building now occupied by Mr. Emerson, occurred in 1844. Mr. Sites says that he distinctly remembers the alarm that was sounded by the old Court House bell, and the excitement it created among the people of the city. He said that he hurried on in the street, and that when he arrived on the scene flames were pouring out of the front windows of the building in dense volumes. He said that at that time Newark only had a small volunteer fire department and one hand engine, the "Old Conqueror." Every member of the volunteer fire department was supplied with a large leather bucket, and the "bucket brigade" was indispensable in time of fire. Mr. Sites says that in a very short time the "old Conqueror" was stationed at the corner of Third and West Main streets, and was pumping a steady stream of water into the building. At that time the company only had a limited supply of fire hose, and two long lines of men and women were formed on Third street, extending from the fire to the canal. One of these lines was composed of women who passed the empty buckets down the line where they were filled and passed along the line of the men to the fire engine. Mr. Sites says that all the time the fire was raging the rain poured down in torrents, filling the gutters with water, so that parties dipped water from them and added the engine in keeping up its supply of water. He says the women on that day did heroic work, and showed what they were capable of in case of emergency.

The building at the time the fire occurred was occupied by a dry goods store owned by a man named Graves.

K. OF P. LODGE

Instituted at Croton by District Deputy Grand Chancellor W. A. Ashbrook.

The big Pythian event of the year was the institution of a new lodge of Knights of Pythias at Hartford, this county, on Friday evening, February 23. Over three hundred members of the Knights of Pythias were present at the institution of the new lodge, which will be known as Croton Lodge, No. 647, many being present from Newark, Granville, Alexandria, Johnstown, Sunbury, Centerburg and Mt. Vernon. The hall was appropriately as well as tastefully decorated for the occasion, and the entire affair was in charge of District Deputy Grand Chancellor, Hon. W. A. Ashbrook, assisted by the officers and the work team of White Cross Lodge of Johnstown. The lodge has a charter membership of 42 members.

The exercises commenced promptly at 2 o'clock and continued all afternoon and all night until 6 o'clock in the morning.

The afternoon was devoted to work in the first and second ranks, and the amplified rank of Knight was conferred in the evening.

An adjournment was had at 6 o'clock in the evening, when a sumptuous banquet was enjoyed in the town hall, which was served by the lady friends of the members of the new lodge, and which was greatly enjoyed by all who were present.

Just previous to the banquet there was a parade of all the Knights and the work team of White Cross Lodge of Johnstown turning out in full uniform.

Croton Lodge starts out under very bright auspices, its 42 charter members being composed of some of the very best citizens of Croton and surrounding country.

District Deputy Grand Chancellor W. A. Ashbrook is to be congratulated on the success attending the institution of this lodge. The floor work of the White Cross work team was greatly admired by the visitors who were in attendance. White Cross team cannot be excelled by any team in the county, and the Knights who failed to see the work at the institution of this new lodge missed a great treat.

HEROIC

WAS THE RESCUE OF A STRANGER FROM DEATH BY AUSTIN GRIM.

At the Risk of His Own Life He Bounded in Front of an Engine and Saved a Life.

Austin Grim, a tank wagon driver for the Standard Oil company, branded himself a hero Wednesday evening by risking his own life to save another man from a horrible death under the wheels of a B. & O. yard engine near the ice plant in North Newark. At about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening as the driver for the Standard Oil company was preparing to leave, a drunken man was observed walking up the railroad track. It is customary for a yard engine to be hitched in front of the northbound freight to start them up the grade leading out of the city; these engines then usually cut loose from the trains a short distance below the oil house and run ahead to take siding until the train is past. Just as the engine was nearing the tracks opposite the oil house the drunken man, whose name could not be learned, staggered and fell in the middle of the track. Fortunately for the man, Mr. Grim saw him fall and sprang upon a box, over the high picket fence which surrounds the property of the oil company, up the steep embankment to the railroad track, and with one light effort threw the intoxicated man off the track and down the other side of the embankment, barely escaping with his own life. Mr. Grim accepts no praise for the heroic act, claiming that it was only what he should have done.

Only a very few persons witnessed the act, but all who have heard of it claim that if any one ever deserved a hero medal Mr. Grim by this act really won such a medal.

Rescued at Buckeye Lake.

What might have resulted in a serious accident was averted at the Buckeye Lake on Thursday morning. Several Newark parties had gone out to the lake at an early hour to hunt ducks, which are reported to be unusually numerous on the lake at present. One of the Newark men was in a frail canoe and in changing his position caused the boat to tip over and he was thrown into the water, which, at that point was about 20 feet in depth. The other members of the party, who occupied two other boats, witnessed the accident, and promptly rescued the young man.

The warden said Wednesday, when asked who would accompany Ohliger, that he did not know as yet, and that he had received no summons from the court.

Ohliger will not be kept in confinement when he is taken to Cleveland, but according to advices from that place, will occupy rooms in the Forest City house, with the warden, while the trial is on. His will be one of the first cases of the kind on record, and such action can, of course, only be taken by the warden himself with authority from the court. A guard usually accompanies a prisoner summoned to testify in court.

Zimmerman has fought off the trial for a long time, but the case will finally come up March 19. Both Ohliger and Zimmerman fled to Canada when the crime was laid at their doors, and were captured there.
